*"It's bad enough to suffer an emotional loss,
our love ones need not to be burdened

Evidence of cremation dates from antiquity, and for many cultures and religions, cremation has been the preferred burial custom. Today, cremation provides an excellent choice for families wanting this clean disposition, with opportunities for burial, placement in an above ground niche, or transportation to a distant city.

Today, many select cremation for spiritual as well as more practical purposes, and memorial gardens and columbaria provide niches for the placement of urns. Once a family has decided on cremation, selecting a crematory is the next important decision.

Cremation

Cremation is becoming more popular as a funeral option. We believe it is important to be aware of all the options that are available in having a meaningful funeral service when cremation is the choice.

Cremation Is...

The process of applying intense heat, for 2 to 3 hours, to a body in a cremation retort, the result being 3 to 7 pounds of small bone fragments known as Cremated remains.

The Haven Crematory is the First and finest facility in Negros Oriental, and the retort, or chamber in which the cremation takes place, is the most modern and environmentally friendly found anywhere in the world today.

Along with the finest equipment, certified operators, and careful management, we will strive to provide the quality of care and kindness we desire for our own families as we serve your family in its time of need.

We encourage families who, for reasons of religious faith or personal concern about the cremation process, to come to The Haven Crematory to witness the initiation of the procedure.
